About Our Preserve

Conveniently located in beautiful Columbia County, NY. Stuyvesant Outdoor Adventures' 600+ acre upland bird shooting preserve is one of the finest facilities of its kind in the Northeast. The habitat we plan every year is carefully chosen for our preserve by the experts as pheasant forever. Our habitat and fields are continuously maintained in an effort to give our hunters the best possible experience. Our scenic location overlooking the Catskill Mountains affords our clients the feel of a traditional Mid-west style hunt without venturing too far from home.

Facilities

Stuyvesant Manor

Stuyvesant Manor is the beautiful lodging facility of Stuyvesant Outdoor Adventures and is nestled on over 70 picturesque acres in the Historic Hudson Valley Region of upstate New York. Formerly the home of Hollywood Icon Sidney Poitier and his family, the newly renovated facility is the perfect place to unwind after a log day afield. Each room is furnished with LCD TV's, Wi-Fi and slate tiled bathrooms and showers. Our first rate accommodations, courteous staff and delicious home-style cooking all contribute to the wonderful atmosphere that sets us apart from the rest.

Clubhouse

Stuyvesant Outdoor Adventures is equipped with a beautiful clubhouse our members use. The clubhouse is furnished with LCD TV's lush couches, recliners, a billiard table, darts, a poker table and a full sized bar. Our members are allowed to keep their own bottles of spirits or wine on reserve which will be readily available on request.

Kennel

Our Upland Bird facility features a state of the art kennel which houses our extraordinary line of pointing and flushing dogs. All kennels are equipped with radiant floor heating which provides proper warmth for our dogs in the colder months. Each kennel has indoor and outdoor sections which allows our dogs the freedom to move from indoor to outdoor at will. Each outdoor segment is connected to our dog socialization pen, which gives our dogs additional choice of movement and promotes socialization. Our trainers are on property 7 days per week ensuring that our dogs are always ready to work.

Continental Upland Bird tower

Stuyvesant Outdoor Adventures is equipped with an Upland Bird tower which is situated on top of a knoll and is surrounded by 20 shooting stands. The stands are arranged in a circle which creates our shooting arena and are positioned 60-90 yards away from the tower. The tower itself has 5 release points; one on each side and one directly overhead. Depending upon the number of hunters and birds released in the shoot, participants will rotate every 5-10 birds – allowing each shooter time in each stand. During the rotation, our professionally trained dogs retrieve the birds. The continental shoot is one of our most popular events and promotes socialization between team members and clients.

5 Stand Wobble Trap

Stuyvesant Outdoor Adventures has a 5 station wobble trap located on the preserve. Clays can either be used as a warm-up, or as an activity in itself. Shooting instructors are also on staff and clinics can be conducted if booked in advance.

Dogs & Handlers

Stuyvesant Outdoor Adventures offers a full line of pointing, flushing and retrieving dogs. Our dogs are professionally trained daily and love to perform for our hunters. Nothing makes them happier locating a pheasant in thick brush. All of our handlers are professionals that perform at the highest level and have exceptional knowledge of Upland bird hunting and dog training.
